DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to because the solid black shading areas are not permitted. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lys et al. (6,459,919) in view of Hanley (6,733,150).

With respect to claims 1-7, Lys teaches A LED illuminator (2154) or an equivalent illuminator with a semiconductor light source (column 5, line 66-column 6, line 2) or equivalent, the illuminator (2154) comprising one or more light emitting semiconductor light sources (column 5, line 66-column 6, line 2), especially LEDs (Light Emitting Diode), a frame (2158), an electronics control part (column 6, lines 66-67) for controlling the semiconductor light sources, and fastening parts (column 66, lines 34-36) for fastening the illuminator, wherein the semiconductor light sources are directed in at least one given direction (Fig. 93D), such as towards a working object and/or area (Fig. 93D), characterized in that the illuminator is a unitary illuminator module (2154), wherein the semiconductor light sources (column 5, line 66-column 6, line 2) are fitted in a common connection part (2158), and directed towards the working object and/or area (Fig. 93D). Lys does not explicitly teach a rectangular connection part with the light sources side by side, and the frame consists of two frame parts folded one over the other, which can be attached on the headgear by means of releasable quick coupling parts, preferably snap-on bayonet catches; UV LEDs, IR LEDs, and different and differently colored light sources, which work together or separately; a switch placed in conjunction with the frame; a water-tight encapsulated LED unit designed to be attached to protective helmets; and the frame parts can be folded against each other so that the visor or equivalent or a part of it remains between them. Hanley, also drawn to LED illuminated headgear, teaches a rectangular connection part (414 and 416) with the light sources side by side (Figs. 2 and 4); a frame (414 and 416) consisting of two frame parts (414 and 416) folded one over the other (Fig. 4), which can be attached on the headgear by means of releasable quick coupling parts (column 5, lines 28-29), as well as snap-on bayonet catches (column 6, lines 42-45); UV LEDs, IR LEDs, and different and differently colored light sources, which work together or separately (column 5, lines 33-47); a switch (166) placed in conjunction with a frame (150); a water-tight encapsulated LED unit (1808) and LED units in protective helmets (Fig. 10); and the frame parts (414 and 416) can be folded against each other (Fig. 4) so that the visor or equivalent of a part of it (412) remains between them (Fig. 4). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to use the parts and assembly of Hanley with the illuminator of Lys, in order to provide a lighted headgear that is not bulk and does not stand out visually (column 1, lines 59-61).
